Programs

Alberta Sport Connection has established a network of Alberta Sport Development Centres (ASDC) across the province. The main purpose of the ASDC network is to coordinate and enhance services available to Alberta's emerging athletes and coaches. These regional centres provide services to athletes and coaches residing in rural and urban areas allowing athletes to develop and train at a high level without leaving home.

Provincial Sport Science Program <http://www.asdc.ca/>

This program is designed to provide sport science and sport medicine services that complement the technical training that is lead by provincial team coaches. These services are delivered to those athletes identified as Alberta team members.

For more information on this program, please contact your local ASDC office.
